From the Heart of the Pastor:

It is with great joy to be writing to you all in this first season of our life together at Cresaptown UMC. Before I began on July 1, my summer came with lists of to-dos and checklists to pack, then unpack, and then forget where it was put. Between the sweat and confusion, Marjorie and I raced to this new chapter of ministry with you.

As one book of my ministry life closed and a new one opened, I have been reflecting on the moments that impacted me most. I remember the relationships that I had built with congregants. I remember the connection in faith we had built over the years. I remember the tears we shared during times of struggle. I remember the shouts of celebration when we all needed a time of joy. To use an image from Scripture, I remember the moments that I was like Mary, not Martha.

It is with this new journey with you that I would like to begin new memories with you. I yearn to hear from you all and see the image of Christ that you are showing. I hope to begin building new relationships with you all while we walk this journey in faith. I pray to give guidance when I can and have humility when I need guided. I hope that future mistakes are met with grace, and we can move forward in love.

It is in this yearning that I feel convicted to get this chapter of our ministry started. I am committing these next 60 days to being a time of discernment, prayer, and dialogue together. I want to hear from you all. I want to break bread with you. I want to hear your stories of faith and discipleship.

I will have a schedule of times available that you can stake your claim to meet with me. I do not mind if it is in a small group setting, or just one on one. If it is in a group, please keep it less than 12 people. That will give us ample time for all to be part of the discussion.

Some questions you may hear:

- How did you come to be part of this congregation?
- What hurdle are you working through in your faith today?
- Where have you seen Christ in your congregation?
- What image of our congregation do you see in our journey forward?
- And how do you want to be part of it?

If you have never met with a pastor before, and this opportunity seems uncomfortable, that is okay. My intention is to learn and to listen. I may ask hard questions, but know they come from a loving place. If you are in need of coaxing, I am a baker in my free time and would love to share with you.

I am excited for this summer with you and look forward to hearing from you. May the Spirit guide us to fruitful moments now and always.

Your New Pastor,

Rev. Patrick Hurder Buhrman
or Pastor Patrick for short

234th Annual Conference

May 30, 2018

Report by Vivian Moore, Lay Member to Conference

The 234th Annual Conference was called to order by Bishop LaTrelle Easterling on Wednesday evening, May 30, 2018, at the Baltimore Waterfront Marriott hotel. The Bishop baptized the infant son of the Revs. Bonnie McCubbin and Lem Dominquez as she celebrated the fact that “We are One Beneath the Cross.” In her sermon she expounded on the message of LOVE. She shared her belief that “many of us are struggling to believe this message of all-encompassing love because it contradicts everything the world stands for,” including power, wealth, victory and certainty. “The message of the cross is counter-cultural and counter-intuitive, and it shakes us to our very core.” She reminded the more than 1,200 lay and clergy members, “that the road God called us to travel began at the foot of the cross.” But the question, she said, is are we capable of traveling it together? “How can we do that in our present state? We travel it with humility. We travel it understanding ourselves as sinners saved by grace... We travel it by allowing the Holy Spirit to transform us. We travel it by embracing the meaning and the message of the cross.” Communion was shared by all those in attendance.

Prior to the opening session the laity and clergy met in separate sessions. The laity session was largely presentations by two national church leaders: the Rev. Barbara Lemmel, a pastor in the New England conference and the directory of Tending the Fire, a consulting group that empowers resilient leadership for changing times; and the Rev. Rik Vance, an Eastern shore native and president of the denominations United Methodist Men. Lemmel spoke passionately about “Courageous Leadership in Anxious times,” detailing two types of anxiety: acute and chronic. She gave four responses that people make to acute anxiety: reaction, herding, blaming, and quick-fix. She used visuals to illustrate each one. She said, “The only way I can be a non-anxious presence is with God.” For a congregation to move forward, it must have both laity and clergy. “Your laity are the ones that need/have those four attributes. Rev. Vance spoke on domestic violence and the response of United Methodist Men to addressing this topic. “Men are missing in action,” Vance said. Vance called attention to an 8-week program for men called Amending through Faith, and how the church can become a participant in the program.

During the plenary sessions on Thursday, the conference celebrated laity and mission and outreach. During the morning session, Bishop Sudarshana Devadhar, from the New England Conference, presented the history and information of the commission on a Way Forward, a task force created by the Council of Bishops in 2016 at the request of the General Conference to work on sections of the Book of Discipline dealing with homosexuality. The commission recently completed their work and they are recommending the One Church Plan to the 2019 Special General Conference. Bishop Devadhar, conducted the morning session so that Bishop Easterling could attend the graduation of her son from Atholton High School. We also heard the report from Christie Latona, conference director of Connectional Ministries, who unveiled a new structure for ministry with “Jesus at the Center of It All.” The five major ministry areas are: leader development, new faith expressions, young people’s ministry, advocacy and action, and abundant health. Several ministry awards were presented to celebrate the discipleship of individuals and churches. They included: Henry Denman Evangelism Award—Acell Alexander Spencer, Rev. Timothy Warner and Jacob Beal, from LaVale UMC; Youth Worker of the Year Award – Sharon Milton of Emory UMC; Youth Adult Leader Award – Hannah Callihan and Zachary Armacost; Advocacy and Action Award – Emory UMC; and Abundant Health Award – Adullum Community Healthcare Center at St. John’s UMC in Baltimore and Grace UMC in Fort Washington.

Thursday evening was devoted to Ordination. Bishop Cynthia Fierro Harvey of the Louisiana Area, preached the sermon for Ordination. She used the images of maps, map-making, the North Star, and Lewis and Clark’s expedition to address the 28 women and men candidates for commissioning, ordination, and readmission. The North Star is constant, it stays fixed in the sky. We need to remember what our center is. “Imagine a church constantly fixed on the mission,” she said. Reflecting some of the anxiety the church is facing with the 2019 Special General Conference, Bishop Harvey told the assembly that God had called each person to bring light into a dark world. We don’t know what the United Methodist church will look like in the future. But there will still be hungry people needing to be fed, sick people in need o healing, people in prison needing a visit. Keep your eye on the mission. “Start telling a different kind of story so that a different kind of future might unfold.”

Friday morning, after Bible Study, we heard a report from the Rev. Tom Berlin, from Virginia, a member of the commission on a Way Froward. Following his presentation was the Memorial Service. The Rev. Craig McLaughlin from Mt. Zion UMC in Bel Air, MD, preached a very powerful sermon on grief and the power of the resurrection. After lunch the plenary continued with the Stewardship report and the approval of the budget, Nominations Report, and a report from the Black College Fund. The remainder of the afternoon was spent on the remaining resolutions, many of which dealt with the way the Baltimore Washington Conference should respond to the One Church Model.

The annual conference was adjourned to reconvene next May at the Baltimore Waterfront Marriott.
